

Overview

In the face of personal adversity and COVID-19, LLI Alumni, now over 200 strong, proved the power and potential within the Latino community.

Many of our Alumni served on the frontlines risking their own well-being to sustain ours. Over and over again, they served as both experts and thought leaders to help navigate the many challenges we faced as a country.

They set forth bold visions for their organizations, offered guidance as board members, and were generous with their time and money to support others. And they did it all while remaining connected as a FamiLLLa.

The power and potential of a single person is undeniable, but the power and the potential of an entire network of dedicated and brilliant leaders is unstoppable. We can now imagine how that power and potential can multiply in the years to come.

Lightly drop a stone into water. It will create ripples. Throw it with sheer force and determination. It will multiply. By tens. By hundreds. Eventually by thousands.
